Rear Admiral Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter
Director

Dear Admiral Hillenkoetter:

By memorandum dated September 16, 1948, the State-Army-Navy-Air Force Coordinating Committee was instructed by the National Security Council to make a study of the internal security situation of the United States. During this study, SANACC prepared a "Brief Statement of the Outstanding Problems in the Field of Internal Security," which lists fifty-one problems affecting internal security. These findings of SANACC are contained in NSC 17/3 entitled, "A Report to the National Security Council by the State-Army-Navy-Air Force Coordinating Committee on Internal Security, dated November 16, 1948."

These problems are presently being considered by the Inter-departmental Intelligence Conference and the Interdepartmental Committee on Internal Security, and it has been noted by the IIC that problem number twenty-six reads as follows: "To improve foreign political, economic and military intelligence."

The members of IIC agree that this problem should be referred to the Intelligence Advisory Committee inasmuch as it pertains to matters of foreign interest instead of internal security.

The ICIS and the National Security Council have been advised of the action taken by the IIC in this regard.

With best wishes and kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover
Chairman
Interdepartmental Intelligence Conference
